	1.	The main Frigera plant is a factory for refrigerator production in Kolin. The directorate of the plant is in Prague II, Nekazanka. On 1 Oct 51 the assembly shops were transferred to Kovosluzba. A Kovosluzba enterprise was established in every krei throughout Czechoslovakia. All small enterprises became subject to this Kovosluzba enterprise and so, for instance, the nickel plating enterprises, repair shops for baby carriages, etc, were placed under Kovosluzba. Frigera national enterprise in Kolin became an independent enterprise as of 1 Oct 51 and delivered refrigerators directly to consumers in Czechoslovakia. Kovosluzba then received a report from a Frigera enterprise as to where they should send fitters and assembly men to assemble the machines delivered by the Kolin factory. (Those reports went to all Kovosluzba enterprises in individual kreis.) The enterprise of Teplice-Sanov carried out all repairs and new installation in the krei Ostin./L/. The offices of the enterprise were in Teplice-Sanov.
	2.	The construction of the airfield was undertaken by Konstruktiva enterprise and both soldiers as well as civilians were employed in its construction. Building material was brought in by military vehicles and by vehicles of the Czechoslovak Transportation, Incorporated. The area was levelled by various excavators and transporters and various hangars and buildings were under construction. Access to the airfield was forbidden
		large barracks and large garages for armored vehicles were to be constructed there. /For precise position of these constructions, see Enclosure B/. I saw two large new reinforced concrete halls which were lined with bricks, measuring 80 x 25 x 8 meters. On each side of these halls was an entrance or exit with sheetmetal blinds. Further along there were two buildings under o astruction and not far from there 2 x 4 brick constructions measuring 40 x 12 meters which were covered with brick and housed soldiers. The entire area was surrounded with a barbed wire fence and patrolled by sentrices.	25x1
